Learning Experience

"Language From a Deaf Child's Eyes"

Montana School for the Deaf & Blind Outreach Services

Objective:

This workshop will help families and staff working with deaf children acknowledge the visual world around us and how language can be introduced and developed through the use and features of American Sign Language.

Cathy Copeland is a nationally certified interpreter with a Master's degree is Postsecondary Education and Mentoring Interpreters. She currently works at Montana State University Billings as the lead sign language interpreter and teaches interpreting students that attend Spartanburg Community College in South Carolina. She is a proud grandmother!

Char Harasymczuk is a Deaf adult with a Master's degree in Mental Health and Rehabilitation. Char is a graduate from the Montana School for the Deaf & Blind. She has three children and is also a proud grandmother.
